DAMAGING TESTIMONY

That Will be Given in the Borden Trial.

Miss Lizzie Will be Confronted With Some Very Hard Evidence to Deny.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The Globe this morning prints a dozen columns of the stories of the twenty witnesses in the Borden murder case who have given affidavits to the government. Some of these stories are of an alarming nature and are as follows: Mr. Frank Burroughs, a well-known New York city lawyer, bill testify that eight months before the murder occurred Lizzie Borden consulted him about the disposition of property in the event of a stepmother's death before that of her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Chase and Mrs. Abigail Manchester will testify that on the night before the murder, while calling at the Borden house, and before being announced, they overheard Mr. Borden in another room threatening to turn Lizzie out of doors unless she would repent the name of the man who "got her into trouble." Mr. G. Romaine Pittson, a wealthy dealer in machinery supplies in New York, will testify that Mr. Borden detailed Lizzie's trouble to him, and was advised to disinherit her unless she would reveal the man's name. John H. Murphy, Mrs. Gustave F. Ronald, Peter Mahan and Augustus Gunning will testify to having seen Lizzie Borden at a window, where and when she must have been standing over the dead body of her stepmother at a time when her father was walking in the yard. Mrs. George J. Simpson will testify that at the Borden funeral she overheard Lizzie asking Bridget Sullivan how much money she wanted to keep quiet. Private detective Michenoy will testify that, lying concealed in a bath room, he heard the quarrel in the matron's room between the sisters and that Lizzie kicked Emma thrice, called her a foul name and said: "You want to see me hanged so you can come into the entire fortune. You are the one person whom I thought I could trust with my secret." Mrs. Reagan, the matron, and one other have deposed to the same effect. The Globe promises to publish a certain piece of very important information recently gained by Office Harrington as soon as the interests of justice will not suffer by its publication.

JOHN SHERMAN.

The Senator Talks on the Present Political Contest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Senator John Sherman arrived at the Fifth Avenue hotel last night. He said in reference to the effect of the present political contest: "I regard the election of a majority of the republican senators as next in importance to the election of legislators and the selection of suitable candidates for the legislature of each state. It is probable that the election of a democratic president would carry with it the election of a democratic senate and house, and if so, place the whole government in the hands of the men bound to revolutionize our tariff laws. Our excellent financial policy would be changed so as to produce panic and desolation in all parts of the country. All the people of the United States are deeply interested in maintaining the principles of the present tariff law and a question of vital importance is threatening an overthrow of our system of currency by the introduction of state bank paper money, the effect of which is to reassert in an emphatic way the decline of state rights in respect to our currency."

A MILLIONAIRE LOOSE.

Made His Escape From a Sanitarium at Litchfield.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 10.—Arthur A. Beckwith, a reputed New York millionaire who has been under treatment for a mild form of insanity at Bulls' sanitarium, Litchfield, has made his escape from that institution. He was traced to Thomaston, Northfield and thence to this city. A large reward is offered for him and detectives are working hard to get i.t. When he escaped he had considerable money, a gold watch and a diamond ring. He is described as forty-three years of age, five feet three inches high, slim, dark, with dark moustache and side whiskers, and wore, when last seen, a grey sack coat and vest and dark pants, black overcoat and soft light hat.

MORMON CONFERENCE

Closes Its Semi-Annual Session—The New Temple.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 10.—The sixty-second semi-annual conference of the Mormon church closed Saturday, with 15,000 in attendance at the closing session. The reports of the various stakes in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona and Mexico showed a total membership of over 200,000. Joseph F. Smith, whose recent return from a seven years' sojourn under ground marked the origin of national party lines, delivered an address. It was decided to dedicate the new temple on April 6, 1893. This building was commenced forty years ago, and has cost $2,500,000.

Suicide of a Railroad Agent.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 10.—Lovant W. Judd, of Milwaukee, agent of the West Shore freight line, died yesterday morning in his room in the Normal flat building on Grand avenue, from the effect of morphine. He was a single man about thirty years of age, and was well known in the city. In a letter to Thomas M. Faribarin, agent of the Illinois Central line, he asked him to ship his body to his old home at Ypsilanti, Mich., where he has relatives living. His brother will arrive from Michigan today to take the body home. Judd left no explanation for his suicide.

A LIVE WIRE

Is a Very Dangerous Thing to Touch.

Instant Death of Joseph F. Tolliver at Indianapolis This Morning by an Electric Shock.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 10.—Joseph F. Tolliver, aged twenty-four years, an electrician in the employ of the Indianapolis Electric company, was killed by a "live" wire in the alley north of the English hotel property about 9 o'clock this morning. He had just cut a "live" wire, and was about to make a connection. He had placed one foot on a stone curb and was just starting to climb a step ladder when he accidentally took hold of a second "live" wire. Tolliver died in an instant. He received a shock of 2,000 volts. The unfortunate man recently came here from Abilene, Kansas, and had been an electrician for nine years.

ALL FOR LOVE.

Two Young Men of Huntington County Have a Shooting Scrape.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Oct. 10.—Frank Shultz, son of a farmer in Warren township, and Charles Berkheimer, who was employed with the railway bridge gang, have been paying attentions to a Miss Jackson, also of Warren township. Sunday afternoon Shultz went to Miss Jackson's home and there met Berkheimer. The men began quarreling about the girl when Shultz drew a revolver and shot Berkheimer in the groin. The doctors say the wound is fatal. Shultz claims self-defense. Berkheimer has made a statement. Shultz is now in jail in this city.

STATE NEWS.

The good Templars held a state meeting at Logansport next Wednesday.

An oil well good for 500 barrels per day has just been drilled at Portland.

The Bourbon fair will be held this week, and this will close the season of exhibitions in this vicinity.

Peter Warbritton, a pioneer of Scott township, Montgomery county, is dead. He was ninety-two years old.

Twenty cigarmakers of Laporte are striking for an increase of wages from $1 to $2 per one thousand cigars.

The New Albany fair cannot be regarded as a "howling success." The backers of the enterprise lost about $2,200.

A five-hundred-barrel oil well was struck on the Graves farm near Portland. It is owned by the Standard Oil company.

The Warsaw Times says that during the fair held in that place last week, the shell and watch rackets were successfully worked on men who should have known better.

Lagrange held the first fair given for some years last week. On Thursday the attendance was estimated at 3,000. Nearly 6,000 tickets were sold that day and children were admitted free.

Michigan City has nearly twelve miles of brick and block pavements and the citizens begin to feel proud of their streets and their city. About two and one-half miles were laid in 1891 and the same amount the present year.

The Catholic priests of the Fifth district of the Fort Wayne diocese were in conference last week in South Bend, at St. Patrick's church parsonage. There were thirteen priests present. Three different papers were read and matters connected with the district were discussed.

The case of County Superintendent Conover, of Rush county, charged with alleged improper conduct toward women teachers, was continued Friday. It was claimed the county commissioners had no jurisdiction and the case will go to the circuit court. Conover has been ousted from office by the commissioners. He claims he is the victim of a conspiracy.

Elijah Allen, an eccentric bachelor farmer, of Barr township, Daviess county, went to Washington and left his team with a livery stable, after which he disappeared. The day following his dead body was found in a pond near Oakland City. Mr. Allen, as it was shown, hung his coat on a tree and he waded into the pond at three different places before finding water of sufficient depth for his purpose. He was forty-two years old and in comfortable circumstances. No cause is assigned.

During a session of the embalming school at Muncie the body of John Johnson, who dropped dead near Cowan, was being used as a subject. Funeral Director Hammond, of Stockwell, identified the body as really the remains of William Mitchell, a confirmed inebriate, who recently escaped from the Tippecanoe county infirmary. While in the infirmary Mitchell gave his home as Clarksbead, Ky., and, according to his own account, he had figured in several murderous affairs, and was a fugitive from justice.

Hi Henry Dying.

GOWANDA, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Word has been received here that Hi Henry, the old-time musician and minstrel, is dying at Cleveland. His show life extended over forty years.

Frank N. Wills and nine other members of his troupe are in the city. They are at the Randall.

CRASHED TOGETHER.

Terrible Accident on the Pacific Coast.

A Coal Boat Runs Into a Passenger Steamer and Four Persons are Killed Instantly.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 10.—The Canadian Pacific Navigation company's steamer Premier was struck by the steam collier Wilhamette in a dense fog off Whidby Island, about ten miles south of Port Townsend Saturday afternoon. Four were killed, one drowned, and seventeen badly wounded. The steam tug Goliah arrived here yesterday morning with three of the dead, all of the wounded, and other passengers, after having spent several hours in an attempt to save from the wreck the body of an unknown body wedged in there. The dead are: Johannas Moe, of Tocoma; Frank C. Wynkoop, son of D. J. Wynkook, of Tocoma; John Rankin, of Seattle; unknown passenger, a man about forty, still in the wreck. An unknown passenger jumped overboard and was drowned.

COLUMBIAN DAY.

New York School Children Honor the Discovery of America.

Twenty-five Thousand Handsomely Costumed Childr .. Form One of the Prettiest Parades Ever Seen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—This was public school day in the order of festivities of the New York Columbian exposition. It was the second in the grand symphony arranged for the occasion. First, religious observances; second, educational display; third, naval procession; fourth, military parade; fifth, general rejoicing and banquet. The prayers and religious services of Saturday and Sunday, participated in by all the creeds and denominations, were followed by an equally cosmopolitan demonstration of the educational forces, which have given the number world its strongest upward impetus. Results of the 250th year of educational work were represented in the parade for the first school founded by the old Dutch settlers in 1633 in that part of New Amsterdam, now known as West Seventy-seventh street and which is still in existence and is called the school of the Reformed church. Today New York owns 100 public school houses, representing an estimated value of $150,000,000 and provides education in its grammar schools for more than 250,000 pupils, boys and girls. Twenty regiments of grammar school boys, of this city and Brooklyn and Long Island and Jersey City, each at least 500 strong, marched with swinging step and perfect alignment in the parade today, every boy proudly carrying a flag of his country, prepared to honor and defend it. Altogether it is probable that there were fully 25,000 scholars and students in the procession. The gross number of scholars who were denied participation in the parade were assigned a peculiarly and ornamental part of the proceedings. Artistically grouped on a stand in reserve square, at the junction of Fifth avenue and Forty-second street, were nearly 1,700 pretty faced school girls, each wearing a liberty cap and costumed in red, white and blue respectively. The tableaux had been so arranged before that on the approach of the procession each one of the smiling, bright-faced children so disposed themselves as to present the effect of the American shield with three American flags artistically bunched on each side of it. The 1,700 sweet girl's voices sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and other patriotic songs, while their gallant boy fellow students tramped past with quickened step which must have left a lasting impression on the minds of all.

IT WAS LOADED.

Parents Leave the House in Charge of Four Children and One Shoots the Others.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Oct. 10.—A tragedy occurred in Rock Creek township, Saturday afternoon, at the home of Samuel Scott. The parents came to Huntington, leaving the house in care of four children. The eldest boy, aged twelve, got down a shotgun, which he supposed was unloaded. Putting a cap on the tube, he pointed the gun toward the other children and pulled the trigger. Alas, the gun was heavily loaded. One of the children, a boy of seven, received the greater part of the load in his body and was instantly killed. The other two children were badly wounded. The gun had not been touched for four years, and none knew of it being loaded.

Frightful Death.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 10.—Thomas F. Johns, a machinist, met with a frightful accident Saturday evening, which caused his death. The dry dock company was testing the new steamer Wyandotte, and some little faults were found with her machinery. Johns was engaged in taking the cap from her throttle valve when it blew off, and the heavy piece of iron struck him in the stomach, rendering him unconscious. He fell into the corner where the steam and hot water poured on him. The man was literally boiled about the neck and trunk, but lingered until yesterday afternoon.

Found Dead in Bed.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 10.—James A. Moore, of Prairieton, was found dead in bed at the Germania hotel in this city. A woman named Sarah Ann Lowe, from the same place, was lying unconscious by his side. Moore had promised to marry her next month or as soon as he got a divorce. The evidence indicates that Moore's purpose was to kill the woman and himself.

SENATOR HISCOCK.

He Did Not Arrive Early and Worried His Friends.

A Fair-Sized Crowd Ready to Listen to His Speech at the Princess Rink —The Tippecanoe Out.

Senator Frank Hiscock, of New York, was originally billed to appear here this evening. In some way the date was changed to 2 o'clock this afternoon. At 12 o'clock Senator Hiscock, who was in Chicago yesterday, had not put in his appearance and his friends were very much worried, not wishing to disappoint the people who wanted to hear him this afternoon. Postmaster Higgins kept the telegraph wires busy about the noon hour trying to locate the senator, but all messages were to no avail. The First Regiment Band played a number of selections in front of the Aveline house and the Tippecanoe club turned out in uniform twenty-two strong. At 2:30 the speaker had not put in his appearance and the band and the club marched down to the Princess rink, it being the intention in the absence of Senator Hiscock to have addresses by local speakers. Should he not arrive this afternoon he will be here to speak this evening sure, and the people will be given an opportunity to hear him.

LATER.

Senator Hiscock arrived on the Keystone fast train this afternoon and the speaking is in progress as we go to press. There is a good attendance.

A STRONG FIRM.

Drs. T. J. Dills and K. K. Wheelock Form a Partnership.

The well-known occultists and aurists, Drs. T. J. Dills and Kent K. Wheelock today formed a co-partnership for the practice of their profession and hereafter these eminent specialists will be together. The partnership takes effect from and after November 6, and the firm will occupy the office of Dr. Wheelock, at 26 West Wayne street.

The friends of the physicians will cordially congratulate them and trust that their relations may always be pleasant and profitable.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Why Judge Gresham Told Judge Allen He Would Vote for Cleveland.

The story of how Judge Gresham happened to impart to a democratic judge the fact that he was going to bolt Harrison and vote for Cleveland has not before been written, but it is as follows: As judge of the Illinois circuit court, the eminent jurist directs the affairs of two district courts, one in Chicago and the other in Springfield. Presiding over the latter court is Judge Allen, a democrat. Recently the republican state organization in Illinois applied to Judge Gresham, asking him to appoint the election supervisors, as is his duty. Instead of doing so himself, however, the republican leaders were thrown into a frenzy upon learning that he had delegated Judge Allen to make the appointments. The latter was as much surprised as the republicans were, and when Judge Gresham went to Springfield Judge Allen very naturally sought an explanation. It was then that Judge Gresham informed him of his determination of voting for Cleveland, also assuring Judge Allen that it was no secret.

ELECTRIC CARS COLLIDE,

With Disastrous Results, at Canton, Ohio.

CANTON, Ohio, Oct. 10.—A north and southbound electric car collided on North Market street, this morning, owing to a heavy fog. The cars were demolished, and the motormen, David Henderson and William U. Tyron, were severely injured. M. D. Spaher and John Meekley, conductors, were cut and bruised, and C. R. Frazier, a passenger, was badly gashed about the head, and several others more or less hurt.

His Life a Failure.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 10.—At an early hour this morning John Cranell, aged twenty-three years, a medical student from Springfield, Mo., committed suicide in a yard in front of a residence at 2,702 Dayton street, by firing a bullet through his heart. He left a note to the coroner stating that life was a failure.

Suicide of an Aged Carpenter.

HUNTINGTON, Oct. 10.—Samuel Trader, an aged citizen, carpenter by trade, and a widower, occupying rooms in his own property, committed suicide about noon yesterday, by shooting himself with a revolver. He lived about an hour, but was unconscious from the first. He said he was tired of living.

Death of Dr. Warren.

PORTLAND, Maine, Oct. 10.—Rev. Dr. Israel P. Warren, died suddenly last night, aged seventy-eight years. He was the author of many religious works.

Returned Home.

HANNIBAL, Oct. 10.—The steamer Normannia, from New York, arrived here this morning.

No Change.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—No material change has occurred in the condition of Mrs. Harrison.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rosebener, of 290 Hanna street, died today at 1 o'clock of membraneous croup. The little one was playing in the yard last evening as usual.

PROBABLY INSANE.

Abel Blondoit May Go to the Richmond Asylum.

A Commission de Lunacy Examining Into His Case at the County Jail This Afternoon.

A commission to examine into the mental condition of Abel Blondoit is meeting in the county jail this afternoon and is making a close study of that excitable Frenchman. The commission is composed of Dr. McCausland, Squire Hays and Squire Wilkinson. The papers will not be made out until this evening, but in all probability Blondoit will go to the asylum, where he should have gone instead of the penitentiary some time ago. Sheriff Viberg and a number of other officers were out all day Saturday looking for Blondoit, who tried to shoot his sister east of this city last week, and who has been in the courts and penitentiary before. While the sheriff was scouring the county Blondoit hunted up the sheriff and went to the jail. He went in the waiting room and got down on his knees before Turnkey Lindsey and began to say his prayers. Mr. Lindsey did not know the sheriff was looking for the fellow, and did not lock him up. He was captured, however, not far off.

LOCAL LINES.

Miss Emma Ehinger has accepted a position in the dry goods house of Louis Wolfe & Co.

C. H. Capern, one of the leading salesmen for the Calumet Paper company, Chicago, is in the city.

Miss Della McClure and Gertrude Baker have returned from a visit in Waterloo and Auburn, Ind.

Mr. Rhae, city solicitor for Louis Fox & Bro., has purchased and moved into the property at 22 Tabor street.

The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific circle will hold its first regular weekly meeting tonight at the City Y. M. C. A.

The body of E. C. Henderson, who died at Andrews, yesterday, will be shipped to this city for interment tomorrow.

Hon. F. K. Foster, of Massachusetts, will speak in this city on the evening of the 15th. Mr. Foster is the well known labor speaker.

Mr. W. C. White, of Washington, D. C., has lately accepted a position in the People's store and is now chief clerk of the cloak department.

The St. Joseph society, of this city, has sent Mrs. Albert F. Schoenbene, of Allegheny City, Pa., $100. Her husband was a member of the society.

Four wheelmen from Middleport, Ohio, passed through the city today en route for Henderson, Mich., which place they expect to reach tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Doughman have removed from No. 135 West Washington street to a cottage, No. 243 Broadway, where they are now keeping house.

A family reunion was held last evening at the residence of Henry J. Miller, No. 36 East DeWald street. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Mr. Miller.

The Baptists have changed the hour of holding their Sabbath school from 2 o'clock to 12 o'clock. Yesterday the new rule went into effect and the attendance was greater than ever.

Mrs. Whitcleather, mother of the late Prof. J. F. Whitcleather, is lying at the point of death at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Decker, in Whitley county. The patient is afflicted with dropsy and her physician states that she cannot recover.

Mr. A. Bruter has on exhibition in his window the necklace to be voted to the most popular young lady in the booths at the coming military carnival and also the gold headed cane to be voted to the president of the most popular club. The necklace is a very pretty plain gold one and the pendant is a star of pearls, surrounded by enambled forget-me-nots.

One next Wednesday afternoon Drs. Stemen, Myers and Porter will operate upon Cyrus Spencer at the St. Joseph hospital. Spencer's many friends have been anxious to have the operation performed, as it seems to be the only chance left for the unfortunate man. The surgeons will cut open the skull and endeavor to find the cause of the irritation to the brain.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Leary, of South Francis street, was the scene yesterday afternoon of a very interesting gathering of young people. The occasion was a birthday party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary's charming nine-year-old daughter. Mrs. O'Leary prepared an excellent supper for the little folks and they all seemed to enjoy it very much. Mr. O'Leary is the Pittsburg yard foreman.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The city treasurer's office is located in the Bank block, upstairs, on the the southwest corner of Main and Clinton streets. The nearest entrance is on Clinton street, up the stairway in the rear of the building. The office will be open until 8:30 every evening to receive taxes for the accommodation of those who work and cannot afford to lose time during the day.

C. J. SOENNEHEIMER,
10-21 City Treasurer.

The ladies of the Christian church will give a social at the home of Conductor Sam Moore, 23 Satterfield street, Friday evening of this week. Everybody is invited. Come and have a good time.

COLUMBUS DAY.

Arrangements Almost Completed for the Celebration.

Afternoon Exercises to be Held in the League Base Ball Park—Program for Evening Exercises.

Everything looks favorable for a great celebration in this city on Columbus day, October 21st, final arrangements for the program having been determined by the Columbus Celebration association at their meeting in the Catholic Knights' hall last evening.

All the pastors from the different Catholic churches were present and nearly every member of the committees previously appointed were in attendance. The meeting was called to order by Vice President W. P. Breen. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary Ryan and approved. The reports of the various committees were then called for. The pastors of the different churches each reported the names of several assistant marshals to take charge of the school children during the parade to see that none are hurt.

The committee on grounds was not ready to report when called, but one of their number stated that they would report later in the evening. Considerable discussion was indulged in as to the best place for holding the exercises. It was said that the old fair grounds were in no shape to hold such a meeting in. Some thought the afternoon exercises should be held in Library hall, but the matter was settled definitely a few moments later when the committee came in and stated that the league base ball park could be secured. This place was selected by a rising vote. Hon. H. M. O'Rourke stated that he would be unable to speak in the open air and asked that another speaker be selected.

The committee on music was not ready to report, owing to the absence of H. C. Bergholf. The committee on line of march stated that nothing particularly definite had been arranged. The parade would start from Library hall at 2 o'clock, and as it was some distance to the ball park the parade would march only on two or three of the principal streets, so as not to tire the children. The uniformed men will be together. Others who take part in the parade are the school children; boys who have made their first communion, in regalia; young men without regalia, carriages, etc. The exact order in which they will march will be arranged later. Chief Grand Marshal George Gordon will have five mounted assistants. They are: Maurice Cody, from the Cathedral; Michael Balter, St. Mary's; Chas. Parr, St. Paul's; John Weissell, St. Peter's, and Frank Majors, from St. Patrick's church.

The floats which are being prepared are very elaborate. The Cathedral's float will be entitled "Columbus with the Globe;" St. Paul's, "Signing of the Declaration of Independence;" St. Mary's, "Planting the Cross;" St. Peter's, "Goddess of Liberty;" St. Patrick's, "Presentation of First Fruits of Discovery to Ferdinand and Isabella."

The following is the arrangement consisted of the pastors of the different churches. Father John Oechtering stated that all the school children had been practicing singing for the occasion and there would probably be a chorus of 800 voices to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee" at the afternoon exercises at the ball park. The speaker has not yet been selected. There will be other exercise and the raising of the American flag. The evening exercises in the Library hall are as follows:

Reinke's orchestra.....
Overture.....Hon. W. F. Reaan
Orchestra.....Selection
Tableau—The Inspiration, or the Idea Columbus.
Orchestra.....Selection
Tableau—Pleading before Ferdinand and Isabel; or the Monk Au cal.
Song—"Hail to the Flag," as sung by the sailors of Columbus every evening on board the Santa Maria, by the children of Columbus, assisted by a chorus of 50 children.
Tableau—"The Landing of Columbus".....
Song—"Queen of the Ocean".....By the Children
Tableau—Return of Columbus".....
Song—"Star Spangled Banner".....By the Children
Orchestra.....Selection
Tableau—Liberty Enlightening the World".....
To Deum, to be sung by the entire audience.

A small admission fee will be charged for the evening exercise. If the day is rainy the afternoon exercises will be held in Library Hall. It is expected that there will be a large number of visitors from adjoining towns, as a large number of invitations have been sent out by Secretary Ryan. The sub-committees will meet again in the Catholic Knights' hall at 7:30 on Tuesday to make further arrangements.

SUNDAY HAPPENINGS.

A Father Who Lost His Boy—A Very Rough Tramp.

A scared man got off the 12:40 train on the Pennsylvania road, yesterday, and rushed up to police headquarters. The man's name was A. W. Binkey and he was from Ada, Ohio. He asked for the chief, but Lieutenant Lapp responded instead. The old gentleman was greatly excited and very mysterious. He said: "There is something wrong here. My boy has been foully dealt with in Fort Wayne. I think he has been murdered. He came here about six months ago and wrote to his mother and me every week but for the last three or four weeks we have not been able to get any word from him, either by telegraph or mail. The old woman is about crazy and so am I. I couldn't stand it any longer so I just got on the train and came down." Lieutenant Lapp grinned and asked the excited old gentleman how old his boy was. "Twenty-five years old," he said. "Well," said Henry, "I guess he is old enough to take care of himself." Both then went to No. 142 Holman avenue, where Binkey, jr., boarded when last heard from. The house was empty and the lieutenant and Farmer Binkey were directed to a house on Baker street. Here the young man was found hale and hearty and the old man merely looked at him and said "You are a nice one." The young man was greatly surprised and said that he had been busy and probably a little careless or he would have written. The old gentleman was satisfied and left for home on the evening train. Young Mr. Binkey will write home regularly after this.

Yesterday morning, Terence Sheridan, a tramp, who says he lives at Cleveland, Ohio, was hurt while attempting to board a freight car on the Pittsburg road, just within the city limits. The train was going west, when the man, in attempting to get aboard the car, fell, resulting in serious injuries to his leg and right shoulder. The patrol wagon was summoned by some companions in the afternoon and the injured man was conveyed to the St. Joseph hospital. He was of the usual class who beat their way on the railroads, and of no occupation. He stated that he boarded for the past two days in some saloon south of the Nickel Plate depot.

Dr. C. B. Stemen was called, and while making an examination of the man's injuries, the rascal began to curse and swear, and jumping up from the table, grabbed his hat and limped off down the street, going towards the west.

HOSPITAL NEWS.

Who are Ill and Who are Recovering—Hospital Improvements.

Fireman Chase is making rapid strides towards recovery. In a few days he will be able to sit up.

Brakeman Oberchain is daily improving. The broken limbs are progressing very favorably.

Fred Hier has totally recovered from his illness, and left the hospital.

Master Harley Hash is much better.

Thomas Norman Courtland is improved considerably.

Mark McKinly has returned from Monroeville. He is feeling much better.

Mrs. Bartly, who was recently injured by a Belt Line car, is progressing very favorably.

Dr. Boswell reports wonderful improvement in the case of the little two-year-old child of Gottlieb Malstrom, who was injured by a Main street electric car a couple of weeks ago.

Brakeman Charles Dyer is in working order. Charley is eager for the brakes again.

The new wing is rapidly approaching completion. Inside the carpenters and plasterers are up to their ears in work. The heating will be by hot water apparatus and a new style of heating which is said to be far preferable to any other, will be put in. Steam was found to be too dry, and this will be overcome by the other way, as it gives a moisture and is far more healthy. The first floor of the old building has been totally remodeled.

Visitors and others will please notice that the entrance for sometime to the hospital will be on Main street side, not by Broadway, as heretofore.

Murphy O'Hea has written the "Columbus Day Ode." It is a grand historical reminiscence of America and Columbus for the past four hundred years. It will be read twice on the 21st, at the day celebration and in Library hall at the night exercises.

There was a numerous attendance of visitors at divine services yesterday and many were welcome guests to the sick patients.

MEETING AT HOAGLAND.

Enthusiastic Democratic Meeting Held There Saturday Evening.

Last Saturday evening a very large and enthusiastic democratic meeting was held at Hoagland. It was a joint affair between Allen and Adams counties. Mayor Read, of Decatur, and Hon. Samuel M. Foster, of this city, were the speakers. There is no lack of enthusiasm at Hoagland. Their club was organized and equipped early in the campaign and they are stirring things up in that section at a great rate. The Hoagland boys ought to come down here and wake up some of our Fort Wayne democrats.

A Decided Innovation.

The University of Michigan is the first college to enroll among its students representatives of the Chinese empire. Two young women have gone there from the heart of China to pursue their studies. The translation of their names are Mary Stone and Ida Kahn. They are pioneers in the reform of foot binding, being the first to go without bandages. They will take a medical course, after which they will return to their homes to do mission work. There are also three young men who are taking literary work, preparatory to studying medicine.

Pole Raising.

A hickory pole will be raised tomorrow evening, at the corner of Washington street and Grand avenue. The pole will be 125 feet without a splice, and it is claimed to be the finest yet raised. The City band will lead the marching clubs of the city, and first class speakers will be in attendance.

It requires 1,400,000 ballots for the election in Indiana and the clerks of the various counties will be obliged to go to Indianapolis for their allotment ten days before the election. The ballots will contain, with the county tickets, over 200 names.

A DAMAGE SUIT.

It is on in the Allen County Circuit Court.

James McCaffrey Asks for a Judgment Against the Pennsylvania Company.

The trial of the case of James McCaffrey against the Pennsylvania company was commenced in the circuit court this morning, the time before dinner having been consumed in empaneling a jury. McCaffrey was a workman in the shops of the company, and while riveting boiler iron, a sliver flew off and struck him, inflicting severe injuries, and suit is brought for damages. Judge Nindo and W. J. Vesey appear for the plaintiff, and Zollars and Calvert represent the defendant.

Judgment has been entered in the circuit court for the plaintiff in the sum of $134.50 in the case of Clark and others against the Pennsylvania company. This case is returned from the supreme court with the decree that the plaintiffs shall pay all costs save the entry of the final judgment, which is to be assessed against the defendant.

In the superior court, the case of Edward Gilmartin against Richard H. Worley and others, a mechanic's lien, is on trial before Judge Dawson.

The will of Louisa Whitely, deceased, late of Fort Wayne, has been filed for probate. The instrument was executed September 29, 1892, and by its provisions all property of the decedent, both real and personal, is left to a daughter, Mary Oleta Voltmere. Frederick Griebel is named as executor.

The mayor had before him a motley crew this morning, and as he beamed upon them from his throne it was plain to be seen that something was to be done. Jeff Myers, for indulging in an old fashioned, regulation drunk, was assessed $10.50; Robert McBride, drunk, $10.50; Walter Chattenden, drunk, $10.50. John Jennings was charged with vagrancy, and the fact is John could not successfully refute the imputation and he was given a fine of $10.50. Not having enough money to liquidate he calmly and philosophically accepted the situation and in jail he will cogitate on the subject of man's inhumanity to man. John Hogue was charged with having cruelly swiped Walter Newman and for indulging in this little pastime he was fined in the sum of $9.50.

In the court of Justice Hays, in the case of John H. Cody against Charles O. Tompson and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad in attachment and garnishment proceedings, judgment for $28.70 and costs was confessed.

A warrant was issued from the office of Justice Whitehead, this morning, for the arrest of Samuel Benderlin, charged with assaulting a shirt from Peter Bernhardt. The defendant was placed under arrest and a hearing was given him this afternoon.

The following marriage licenses have been issued; Joseph A. Racht and Mary E. Sherland, George G. Dustman and Katie Takenbrook.

CHRISTIAN WORK.

Annual Convention of Young People of the United Presbyterian Church.

The annual convention of the Young People's society of the Northern Presbytry was held in the United Presbyterian church at Muncie, last Thursday and Friday, and was quite well attended. The first session was held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and was opened with an address of welcome delivered by Mr. George A. Brownlee, to which response was made by Rev. R. H. Boyd, of Tipton. An organization was effected and the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: C. L. Pinkerton, president, Muncie; M. B. Friday, vice president, Idaville; J. E. Carson, second vice president, Tipton; Miss Ivo Miller, secretary, Murray; Andrew McComb, treasurer, Muncie. Reports from delegates were heard, and brief addresses were made by persons in attendance.

In the evening after praise services, Rev. S. R. Lyons, of Bloomington, delivered an eloquent address before a large audience.

On Friday a number of papers were read, all of which were highly instructive. Dr. James Caldwell, of this city, read a highly entertaining paper upon the subject, "Soul Saving." Routine business was transacted and in the afternoon, the convention closed after a most profitable session.

Dr. Caldwell was the delegate from Fort Wayne, and the convention was composed of some twenty or thirty members.

ONE CENT DAMAGES.

A Ludicrous Verdict After the Sixth Trial of a Cause.

A case has just been decided in the Pulaski circuit court which shows the folly of going to court with petty and insignificant cases., a number of years ago Amos Burwell, from near Hebron, secured a verdict for a term of years to his son-in-law, Elmer Codwell. A quarrel arose as to the division of crops and no settlement could be reached. The breach between the two men widened and the old gentleman unsuccessfully attempted to jail his son-in-law on the charge of stealing hay, and in retaliation Codwell sued his father-in-law on a charge of malicious prosecution. A trial in the Porter circuit court resulted in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $5,000. A new trial was granted, and a change of venue was taken to Lake county, and from there the case was sent to Pulaski county. The second trial resulted also in a verdict for Codwell, but his damages were placed at only one cent, and consequently he is mulcted for the costs, which amount to about $700.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER SETS DISAPPOINTS.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have been highly appointed in its effect wherever it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all disorders of the Stomach and Liver.

An Answer to Brother Leonard's Maysville Speech.

Brother Leonard, of the Gazette, has been "working" his mind. According to his statement to the good people of Maysville the other night, he has been working it until his very brains have sweat. He has somewhere got hold of an ordinary partisan electioneering pamphlet. He speaks of this pamphlet as though he thought it entitled to rank with "Tyndall on Heat," or Darwin on "The Origin of Species." He declares that he has toiled hard to master this "work," and thinks he has at least partially succeeded. He is of the opinion, however, that the task is too difficult for the average man, and recommends picture cards as better suited to the ordinary protectionist's comprehension. That Brother Leonard had difficulty in "mastering" the pamphlet is no matter of surprise, if by mastering he means verifying the statements and drawing the relation of premises to conclusion. The man who can do that with a protectionist electioneering pamphlet has yet to be discovered. We have no doubt, however, that any man who is not bound by his hopes to believe in the divine paternity of a protective tariff could "master" the little pamphlet in twenty minutes.

Our lecturer quotes Mr. Cleveland's message of 1887 as follows: "Our tariff laws [the stars are his] as their primary and plain effect raise the price to consumers of all articles imported and subject to duty by precisely the sum paid as duty." Thus the amount of the duty measures the tax paid by those who purchase for use these imported articles."

He then says that linseed oil was selling at 62 cents per gallon when the McKinley bill raised the duty on that article 7 cents a gallon. Because linseed oil rose 7 cents a gallon after the passage of the bill had fallen to 57 cents on January 1, 1892, he declares that Mr. Cleveland was "in error." This remark would be to the point if Mr. Cleveland had said what he did not say. If he had said that domestic goods are increased in price by precisely the amount of the duty laid to protect them, our lecturer might, with propriety and without misrepresentation, have contended that in respect to this particular article and this particular part of the tax laid on it importation, Mr. Cleveland is "in error" so far as yet appears.

But Mr. Cleveland has never said any such thing. The lecturer's remarks upon this point are, therefore, tax et pro-terea nihil—mere wind. What Mr. Cleveland actually did say with regard to the effect of duties upon the prices of domestic goods "protected" by them our lecturer could have learned, if his pamphlet had extended its quotations a few lines further. Its mutilation confines to a suspicion that the starred out words in the very passage quoted would give that information; but of this we are not certain. At any rate his statement is, that the duty raises the price of the article upon which it is laid by an amount at least approximately equal to the duty.

Our lecturer does not furnish the slightest evidence that this statement is not strictly correct, even in the case of the single example he sees fit to cite. Unless the price of foreign linseed oil is thirty-seven cents at the place of manufacture, the New York price of domestic oil is even now equal to the foreign price, plus some portion of the duty, and this is all Mr. Cleveland alleged as the general tendency of protective duties with respect to domestic manufactures.

Our lecturer poses as a "scientific" investigator of the tariff question. He ought to know that a scientific induction never rests upon a single fact, and that, too, a fact selected because it seems favorable to the establishment of a preconceived theorem. The case is much worse when the single fact is traced throughout a small fraction of the time during which it has been in operation. We will say nothing of the repute in which a man untrained in a particular science is held, when he seeks to overthrow a principle of that science which has secured the universal support of the real scientists, who have devoted their lives to its investigation. We will pass this by and proceed to point out how a real scientist, intent only upon the discovery of truth, would have proceeded with the linseed oil investigation. The method would depend somewhat upon the purpose in view. Suppose the purpose were to determine the expediency of an additional duty. We should need to know what duty is already laid upon the article. Turning to the tariff schedule of 1883, we find that there is already a duty of twenty-five cents per gallon. The next want to know what is the decline in price since the duty. Is it for revenue? The duty is already sixty per cent. or more. Every authority and all recorded human experience say that a duty for revenue should be less than half of the duty already laid. Is the object to balance the difference in wages here and abroad? The official declaration of principle of the great protectionist party says that difference should be the measure of the duty. We can scarcely go behind this declaration. We must learn, then, what that difference is, as nearly as may be. We will turn to the various official publications of labor statistics which contain the voluntary statements of manufacturers themselves. We find that the total cost of the labor necessary to make a gallon of linseed oil is two cents. The difference in labor cost here and abroad can scarcely be more than one cent per gallon. But we already have a duty twenty-five times as great as that difference. The expediency of increasing the duty on this ground does not appear. Either the official declaration of the correct measure of a duty is a barefaced impudent humbug, or else this duty ought to be mercilessly cut down.

But let us keep cool and look into the history of the linseed oil manufacture under the duty of 25 cents per gallon, which has been the duty at least since 1883. Perhaps we may discover the real motive of this apparently groundless protection threat increase. We find that linseed oil sold in 1886 at 39 cents, rose in 1887 to 51 cents, in 1888 to 58 cents, in 1889 to 60 cents and in 1890 to 62 cents. Taking average yearly prices, there was a rise during this period of 33 per cent. in the price of flaxseed, but the rise in linseed oil was 54 per cent. The fact that a linseed oil trust was formed in 1887 will account for the steady rise in price, which during all this period was away ahead of the rise in flaxseed. This trust consisted mostly of western and southwestern oil men. The eastern crushers staid "outside." The trust of course was anxious to destroy all competition. It had the advantage of position with respect to the flax fields, but the disadvantage that most of its plant was formed from the spoils from poor equipment and watered stock. The eastern oil men depended largely on imported seed for their supply. Here was the trust's opportunity. McKinley is asked to raise the duty on imported flaxseed from 20 to 50 cents per bushel, to encourage the refusal of a rebate on exported oil cake made from imported seed, and to raise the duty on oil from 25 to 32 cents per gallon. He complies and sends the trust away perfectly satisfied that it has obtained the "highest good of man," an opportunity to plunder their fellows. The next step would of course be to let down the price of oil to the free list, possibly point at which they could stand the pressure, in order to force outsiders to the wall or into the trust. It was for this purpose that they helped the flaxgrowers get the duty on imported seed raised ten cents per bushel. They got his their rivals, but did not touch them, as is shown by the fact that within two months after the duty on seed was raised, the price fell twenty-eight cents a bushel, and within six months it had fallen fifty cents a bushel. We see, then, that reduction in price was the logical next step in the trust's procedure after the passage of the McKinley bill. The conscriptor is strangling its victims. When it has swallowed them tail, bones and pin feathers, we may confidently expect to see the McKinley squeezer again applied to consumers.

At thirty-seven cents for domestic oil a duty of twenty-five cents a gallon is more than absolutely prohibitory. Will Brother Leonard tell us what reason there could have been for raising an increase of seven cents a gallon under the hope of getting ultimately a good deal more than thirty-seven cents?

Matrimony in the West.

Reports received by the Idaho superintendent of public instruction show that the trustees of nearly every school district in the state of Idaho are having difficulty in retaining school teachers. The fair pedagogues marry at an alarming rate, and there is a constant call for new teachers. Young women flock into Idaho from the east—particularly Iowa, Illinois and Missouri—mostly obtain situations as teachers, and in from three to six months abc it fifty per cent. of them are married, leaving their schools for the more congenial surroundings of homes. There are in Idaho so many more men than women that a pretty and intelligent girl from anywhere has no difficulty in securing more admirers than she knows what to do with. The school trustees complain because, in many instances, teachers marry and desert their schools in the middle of the terms, thus causing much inconvenience and loss of time. The state superintendent, it is reported, has on hand letters from over three hundred women who are desirous of obtaining positions in Idaho, and he is inclined to believe that about three-sixths of the applicants, having heard of Idaho's fame as a matrimonial field, are more anxious to obtain the search of a rich husband than to instruct the hardy youth of the state. If any more women are employed this year they will be compelled to sign an iron-bound contract not to marry during the school terms, and a generous share of their salary will be retained as a surety.

A RECENT report from New York city conveys the intelligence that there has been some mitigation of the elm scourge this year. The beetle which attacks the leaves before midsummer, and reduces many of them to mere skeletons has been at work for several years past. Its ravages are at first directed against the English elms, which are more or less tender in this country, but in time the pest reached the native species. Besides the elms, limits, and especially in the small parks, have suffered most this year. Those in Central park have been less affected, while those in the suburbs have fared better still. Young elms recently transplanted have been especially damaged.

In the opinion of the American press the safety and security of the American people require that the restriction which President Harrison has laid upon immigration for the protection of the public health shall be maintained, and that it be extended for other reasons as potent as those which originated and inspired the patriotic course of the president. The refuse of Europe must not be poured forth in a turbid current upon these shores. We cannot afford to take from whom Europe rejects. No immigrants should be admitted to this country who are not in a condition to add to the moral and material welfare of the country.

DAUPHIN county, Pa., will send for exhibition in the woman's building at the world's fair an elaborately carved table of extraordinary historical interest. It will be composed of wood taken from the yoke of the famous "liberty bell," from the house in which the first American flag was made, from Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge, from the old ship Constitution, and from a pillar in Independence hall. The upper surface will be inlaid with Indian arrow heads, relics of the six nations, with whom what is now Dauphin county was once a favorite hunting ground.

THE worst convict in the Missouri penitentiary is said to be a man named Johnson. He once made an attempt to escape by setting the prison on fire, and $300,000 worth of property was destroyed. He recently attempted basebeen a keeper with a mouse made of bedticking, but was discovered by an overpower him, and was himself forced back in his cell, which he had ingeniously unlocked.

WOODSTOWN, N. J., comes to the front with a report of a terrible battle between a pet cat and an eight-foot pine snake. The snake, though half killed, managing to keep the snake engaged until help came. The cat, says the report, was defending its mistress, a little girl, but it is quite likely that the feline's natural antipathy for snakes led it to engage the reptile in battle.

THE use of the camera in hospitals for photographing different phases of disease has been productive of valuable results abroad. Pictures are taken of patients at various stages of disease, and a comparison of these with photographs of others similarly afflicted discloses phenomena of great interest and value to medical science.

Few cities ever get started—"laid out," as it is commonly called—as they should be. They get in the establishment of a training school to be maintained by the city. These institutions are a great benefit to our large cities and their number is constantly increasing.

IN these piping times of political activity there are a great many stump-speakers saving the circumambient atmosphere. A conservative estimate places the number at two thousand.

An Appropriate Prayer.

A recent gentleman tells this story of a little boy. The boy was tired from a hard day's play, and when he retired he was too sleepy to say his goodnight prayer. His mother tried in vain to have him say it, and finally sent the father in. He found the boy just sinking into a tired sleep, and demanded that he should get up and say his prayers. The little fellow arose wearily, sank down upon his knees by the bedside and began: "O, God lord please make papa say his prayers when he's as tired as I am. Amen."

Princely Italian Marriages.

When a marriage takes place in Italy in a princely family the bride and groom, after the religious ceremony, present themselves to the pope to receive his benediction. Then the young couple, in wedding costume proceed to St. Peter's alone, and, kneeling on the bare flags before the statue of the "Prince of the Apostles," pray.

TO INSCRIBE SPEECH.

A WONDERFUL APPARATUS THE BASIS OF NEW SCIENCE.

You Talk and it will do the Rest with Neatness and Despatch—An Improved Oratory Engine—A New Idea in Fine Lighting—Scientific Notes and Gossip.

Abbot Rousselot, professor of the Carmelite school, has very recently presented to the Faculty of Letters of Paris a thesis for doctor's degree which is apparently of a very special interest, for it treats of the "phonetic modification of language as studied in the patois of a family of Cellefrouin (Charente)" but this work, at first sight so limited, has a wide range. The author definitely lays down therein the basis of a new science—experimental linguistics. Our readers already know of the important results obtained by Mr. Besapède and Marey in their laboratories. It is by the aid of their labors and those of a few others, Scott, Barlow, etc., that Abbot Rousselot, the pioneer of the instruments of his predecessors, such as they are, in correcting them, or in devising new systems, has succeeded in creating the series of apparatus necessary for registering, one by one, the motions whose ensemble constitutes a word or a phrase.

It is to be foreseen that the ingenuity of his successors, his own even, will still further improve these new apparatus; but at present the experiments made with them solve the problem of the mechanical inscription of speech is solved. The lines are inscribed upon the Verdin registering apparatus (engraving) represented herewith. This, as well known, consists essentially of a cylinder upon which is fastened a sheet of glazed paper blackened with the smoke of a wax taper. A clockwork, with a Foucault regulator, permits of making it revolve with a speed that may be regulated at will. In front of the cylinder, upon a horizontal rod, is fixed a Marey drum and lever, made of a metallic capsule closed with sheet rubber. Against the rubber there bears a metallic plate with which is connected a bent lever that rises or falls with the movements of the plate rubber. The extremity of this lever rests upon the blackened sheet and removes the lampblack and thus draws a white line upon it. On another hand, there is an aperture in the drum into which a rubber tube may be fitted.

Now, every time that, for any cause whatever, the air contained in the rubber tube enters into vibration, the vibrations will be communicated to the air of the drum, and after that to the rubber and then the plate and lever will enter into motion. If the cylinder is revolving at the same time, the line that will be inscribed thereon by the point of the lever, instead of being straight, will become a tracing —a tracing of the vibrations.

Now, if we reflect that speech is a motion and that a sound, a color, is air that issues from the mouth and nose in vibrating under the action of the phonic organs, we shall understand the use to which the apparatus above described may be put. Abbot Rousselot does not, of course, make it note speech itself in all its complexity, but, one by one or simultaneously, all the motions that compose it. Let us begin with those of the larynx. It is here, in fact, that the first noises are produced when the air is expelled from the lungs. To the extremity of the tube that ends in the drum is adapted a metallic capsule about half an inch in diameter, which corresponds to the throat, in the lateral curve of the thyroid cartilage, and then speaks.

An Improved Rotary Engine.

This improved engine, which has been patented by Mr. Hermann Betten, is designed to utilize the steam as motive agent to the fullest advantage. The cylinder and its base preferably consist of two parts bolted together, and the piston, secured on the main shaft, has a circular face which bears in the outer circular space of the cylinder. Below the steam inlet pipe a gate is arranged to slide into or out of the cylinder, a spring-pressed arm connected by a link with the gate holding the latter in its inner position. As shown in the illustration, during the most of the revolution of the piston. As the revolution is nearly completed, the piston head strikes the arm, whereby the gate is drawn outward until the piston has passed. The gate is also pivotally connected by a link with a valve in the steam chest, so that the steam is shut off during the time the gate is withdrawn as the head is traversing this portion of the cylinder. The steam chest has a transverse partition dividing it into two compartments, one of which is connected with the source of steam supply and the other with the pipe leading to the cylinder. In the latter compartment slides the cut-off valve controlling the passage of steam admitted to the cylinder, this valve being connected with one arm of a bell crank lever, and the other arm of the lever being adjustably connected with an eccentric rod operated from the main driving shaft. This form of engine may be arranged with two cylinders attached to a main driving shaft if desired.

A New Hair Dye.

Silver salts flave so long held the field as a hair dye that some interest attaches to the German proposal to use paraphenyldiamine for the same purpose. The invention is protected by patent, and the details as revealed by specification are somewhat wanting in clearness. From this it appears that the dye is first brushed on with a solution of 20 grammes paraphenylediamine and 14 grammes caustic soda in a liter of water, and then washed with a 2 per cent solution of hydrogen peroxide. In the course of a day the hair becomes very dark and, by repeating the application, of a blue-black color, but if to the 2 per cent iron oxide solution" is added to the hydrogen peroxide, the color produced is brown.

After cooling, the supernatant liquid is decanted off. 200-0 are diluted with 200-0 water and 350-0 finest glue allowed to swell in it for three hours, when it is heated until perfect solution takes place, after restoring the original weight by adding water. 50-0 acetic acid (96 per cent) and 1-0 pure carbolic acid finish the preparation.

A Multiple Fuse Igniter.

The device shown in the illustration is designed to promote safety in blasting, providing for such purpose a simple and very efficient means of safely holding and simultaneously firing any number of fuses. It consists of two double-jaw pieces, hinged together, so as to be folded one upon the other, and firmly secured in such position by a simple form of fastening. On each side of the lower faces of the blocks are short semi-cylindrical grooves, which, when the parts are closed, register and fit closely upon the fuse, and these several grooves are connected by a small branch groove in one of the blocks, this groove being adapted to contain fine powder, by which fire may be communicated to the several fuses. The fuse by which the others are fired may be located in the registering grooves in the hinged end of the block. If desired, ordinary black powder may be united loosely to form a paste and moulded into the small branch grooves to dry there in position. For wet blasting, the edges of the blocks may be first smeared with cartridge soap, to make a water-tight joint.

Scientific Drops.

Electric welding has now become almost universal in large establishments. The use of a flux is necessary. Electricity is used for making forgings, railroad spikes, ball bearings, and other articles hitherto made by hand.

A Frenchman has been experimenting with a new electric boat which has two side wheels with hollow floats to act as floats, and vanes like a mill wheel. At the stern there is a smaller wheel to steer by. The boat is driven by means of motors.

The influence of forests in protecting the water supply is well illustrated in the case of Greece. In ancient days she possessed 5,500,000 acres of forests. To-day she has hardly 2,000,000 acres, and the scarcity of water and other injurious climatic effects are traceable to the destruction of the trees.

Cyclones originated in the tropics, and are chiefly found in five localities: The West-Indies, Bengal bay, and the Chinese coast, north of the equator, and in the South Indian ocean and Bay of Madagascar, and the South Pacific, south of Samoa. In the Antilles there are not half a dozen on the average every season.

The properties possessed by the metal gincimum, about which comparatively little is yet known, appear to render it valuable for the construction of electrical instruments. It is said to be lighter than aluminium, stronger than iron, and of better conductivity than copper, besides resisting oxidation, while its cost is estimated at one dollar an ounce.

A new preparation has been introduced in France for the purpose of replacing India rubber and gutta percha. The ingredients are Manila copal, linseed oil and benzine, to which is added a small percentage of resin oil. The product is said to exist in a high degree and elasticity, solidity and durability of the best India rubbers, and can be vulcanized in the usual manner.

Catarrh in the Head is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. It gives an appetite and builds up the whole system.

Hood's Pills act especially upon the liver rousing it from torpidity to its natural duties, cure constipation and assist digestion.

Steam brakes were first proposed in 1864; air brakes were invented in 1869.

A Traveling Man's Experience With Diarrhoea.

I am a traveling man and have been afflicted with what is called chronic diarrhoea for some ten years. Last fall I was in western Pennsylvania, and accidentally was introduced to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I ventured to make a trial and was wonderfully relieved. I would now be introduced it among my friends. H. M. Lewis, 24 Premium street, Cleveland, Ohio. For sale by druggists.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Waking Up to Find a Snake on His Bosom.

"A short time ago I was camping with a party on the shores of Lake Erie, not far from Ashtabula," said George Wilson, a mill worker. "Shortly after we had retired one evening I heard a peculiar whirring sound which I recognized at once. 'There is a rattler in camp,' I exclaimed. 'I am going to get up.' 'Hush!' came the word, slowly hissed through the teeth, from a companion near me. And the reptile crawled into my shirt bosom. This was very softly, and we were almost paralyzed with fright at the prospect. We were all afraid to stir for fear the reptile would take alarm and strike its victim. It crawled over his body good naturedly, evidently enjoying the warmth, for the night was a little raw.

"At times the snake's head was close to his face, as he told us afterward. He feared the motion of his chest up and down in breathing would excite the animal, and he tried hard to breathe as little as possible. Finally the snake crawled toward the fire, and in an instant the whole camp was up. One seized a club and broke the reptile's back before it could make a spring. It measured nearly five feet.

"The man who had had the terrible experience collapsed like a rag after the experience was over. During the ordeal we were all surprised at the coolness and nerve he displayed. With all danger past he fell into a faint, but he soon revived."

A SURPRISED CROWD.

The Old Lady Had a Strong Grip and Plenty of Nerve.

A theory of gentlemen had concentrated inside and near the front door of a prominent grocery in Louisville, when an aged and apparently infirm Irish lady entered, seeking alms. "Wad un or yez gir me suthin to buy suthin to eat?" was her query. "Yes," respond d a gigantic clerk, "there is a barrel of flour; if you will carry it home you can have it." The old lady looked at the flour a moment, and then raising her head shortly said: "Dun'say I kin hav this if I carry it home?" "Yes," responded the clerk, "that is what I said." The old woman then sidled up toward the barrel, and after clasping its chines steadily drew it toward her and after it had reached her chest she gave it a routing lurch, when it landed upon her left shoulder, and rising with it with as much ease as a camel would, she deliberately walked out with it and easily proceeded down Main street to a house between Main and Water, where she landed it in her own door.

Edw. C. Cook, 513 Adams avenue, Scranton, Pa., states that he considers Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup the most efficacious remedy for coughs, colds, etc., he has yet found.

If you are offered a bottle of Salvation Oil, without wrapper or defaced or mutilated, don't buy it at any price, you may be sure that there is something wrong; it may be a worthless or dangerous counterfeit. Insist upon getting a perfect, unbroken, genuine package, in a yellow wrapper.

A Cure for Cholera.

There is no cure of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in five minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic of cholera has always believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by druggists.

INDUSTRIAL MATTERS.

Contractors Complain of Deeds of Vandalism.

News of the Rail and Shops as Revealed by Our Reporter's Note Book.

The attention of the reporter has been directed to the destructive work of boys in various parts of the city, and if all the reports are true, Fort Wayne's rising generation is a pretty tough lot of citizens. Contractors say that they are greatly annoyed by the youngsters making play-houses out of buildings in course of construction and sometimes committing deeds which verge onto vandalism. When Mason Long's magnificent residence in Lakeside was nearly completed some miscreant broke all the wires to the electric call bells, and to replace them it was necessary to cut holes in the walls in various parts of the house. A plumber who had nearly completed a bath room was surprised one morning to find that every lead pipe leading to and from the bath tub had been cut and carried away. A house just whitecoated was marked up with indelible pencils and still another had its interior walls smeared with filth. These are a few of the worst cases, and they are deeds of depraved, malicious characters. Other damages are due to thoughtlessness. Children like to play in new buildings and in their games of "hide and go seek" they romp from room to room, knocking holes in the walls or scratching the woodwork. A contractor said this morning that there had not been a house erected in this city for several years which was not more or less damaged during construction by the boys. This state of affairs should not exist. The remedy lies with the parents. Make it a point, every one of you, to see that your children are not guilty of such deeds as those mentioned above and you will receive the thanks of every contractor in the city.

Henry Dreier resumed his old position in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop this morning, after an illness of three months. The men in the shop were glad to see their old comrade.

Peter and Billy Lepper, of the Pittsburg planing mills, spent Saturday up the St. Joe river. Among a number of fish caught by the brothers was a pickerel which weighed eight pounds.

William Royians is at his desk in the Pittsburg roundhouse today, after an absence on account of sickness of over a week. The SENTINEL hope William will soon be fully restored to health.

Thomas W. Ferrington, having severed his connection with the Electric Light works, will leave for Detroit this week, much to the regret of his many friends here. He has resided in Fort Wayne about a year, and during that time made a wide acquaintance.

Herman Regel, a millwright, has returned from Bridgeport, Ohio, where he was superintending the erection of a mammoth engine in a rolling mill. The engine has a 23 by 60 inch cylinder and a power of 500 horses. It was built by the Bass Foundry and Machine company in this city.

The damage suit of McCaffrey vs. the Pennsylvania Railway company is now in progress. While at work in the shop, about three years ago, McCaffrey was struck in the eye by a hot rivet, destroying the sight. He seeks $5,000 damages. Among the witnesses in the cases are Tine Kretsinger, John Henry and Thomas McNearney, of the car shop, who are off duty attending court today. Since the accident McCaffrey has lived in St. Louis, and he came up from that city yesterday.

Conductor Ed Dedrick, of the Plymouth accommodation, distributed a number of fish among his friends this morning. The fish were caught by the conductor the day after Saturday in the lake at Plymouth.

Fred Mennewish returned to his work in the Pittsburg shops this morning, after a few days' absence on account of the illness of his wife, who suffers with quinsy. The lady's condition is much more encouraging today.

While Henry Schroeder was driving along Wells street yesterday, his horse became frightened at an approaching electric car, and turned about so suddenly that one of the buggy wheels was wrecked. Mr. Schroeder is clerk in the iron yards of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

Pittsburg round house off duty list: Engineer D. V. Nestle, sick; Fireman S. Lett, lame back; Fireman C. Marsh, wife sick. Those who reported after an absence are Engineers O. R. Ellenwood, S. P. Craig, D. L. Mason and W. Slagle and Fireman J. L. Wilson, W. R. Gillespie and C. H. Pratt.

Two of the largest boilers ever built in Fort Wayne were turned out of the Bass works Saturday. They have a capacity of 250 horse power each and will be shipped to New Castle, Pa., where they will be placed in a tin and wire nail factory. The engines for the same will be shipped in about two weeks.

Master Car Builder James A. Graham, accompanied by Master Mechanic James E. Keegan, of the railway shops in Grand Rapids, Mich., returned to the city Saturday night. Mr. Keegan left this morning for his home. The gentlemen were making a tour of all the shops on the Pennsylvania system and were absent several weeks.

Theodore Thieme, manager of the Wayne Knitting mills, and W. H. Dreier left Saturday night for New York, where they will purchase machines to equip the company's new building on West Main street. The operating force will be doubled when the company occupies its new quarters, which will be about the first of December.

C. E. Betts, cashier of the Fort Wayne branch of the Standard Wheel works, has tendered his resignation, to take effect November 1. Mr. Betts held the position for eighteen months and his services were very satisfactory to the company. He resigned to take a position with a Sidney, Ohio, firm at a greatly advanced salary. The vacancy has not yet been filled.

T. J. Roslabaugh, foreman of the paint department in the Pittsburg shops, has returned from a week's outing with the Bala club at Hoffman's lake. Other members of the club who reached home and who were with Mr. Roslabaugh are George W. Lowe, J. C. Brinsley and Nathaniel Chapmen. The gentleman caught a number of fine fish and had an elegant time.

The Wabash company expects to carry several thousand people into Peru next Wednesday, the date set for the great democratic barbecue. Every available passenger car on the line has been ordered placed in readiness for the occasion. The fare, round trip from this city is $1.15. Many of our citizens will take advantage of this rare opportunity to visit Peru.

Engineer William Turner, who met with an accident at Hobart, Ind., some weeks ago, is now able to walk around without the assistance of crutches or cane. He will resume his run in a week or two. Fireman Chase, also injured at the same time, is slowly recovering. He will, however, necessarily be disabled when he attempts to walk, but his physicians hope to remedy this trouble in time.

A serious wreck occurred on the Detroit and Chicago branch of the Wabash road Friday night, but the officials with characteristic energy succeeded in suppressing its publication, although six people were more or less seriously hurt. The train plunged into an open switch at Hammond, Ind. Engineer John Mitchell and Fireman James Leland were probably fatally injured. The injuries of the others are not serious.

Fireman Charles Snyder and Brakeman John Bennett, of the Pittsburg road, had an interesting time with a burglar last night. The gentlemen lodge at No. 32 Breckenridge street, and between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock Mr. Bennett awoke and saw a man moving about the room. He quietly awoke his partner and when the intruder entered a closet Messrs. Snyder and Bennett sprang out of bed and nabbed him. After giving the thief a good threshing they searched him and found in his pockets $88 in cash and a gold watch and chain belonging to them and which the thief had taken from their clothing. Then they played foot ball with the burglar awhile, winding up the entertainment by kicking him down stairs.

Yardmaster R. C. Ross, of the Lake Shore, had to leave his work this afternoon to attend a lawsuit in a justice's court. Mr. Ross is mad.

A merry party of Pittsburg architects made a bicycle run to Auburn and Garrett City yesterday. At the latter place they ran across some of the Baltimore and Ohio architects and were shown over the shops of that company. The boys were disappointed in not seeing Mr. Bennington at Auburn, that gentleman having gone hunting, but they report having had an excellent time. In the party were George Schmoll, Frank Cairnes, John Casey, Moses Lee and Fred Zimmerlee. They met Andy Wagner at Auburn, and were courteously entertained for an hour.

The Muncie Herald, of Saturday, contains the following account of an accident at that place, the results of which might have been much more disastrous: "Yesterday noon at the Lake Erie and Western passenger station and an inexperienced employe nearly cost the life of a United States expressman this morning. The Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville and Lake Erie and Western trains pull in at the same station, and at 10:20 there are two trains there together. The Fort Wayne train generally gets in first and did this morning, and the baggage on it was very heavy. Baggageman Edwards had gotten the trunks out and was pulling his truck away, leaving an empty truck on the main line tracks, and as the Lake Erie and Western train was due, Jesse Santon, the United States expressman, left his truck at the car steps, would run around the incoming train, and started to pull the empty baggage truck out of the way, and then come back to load the express. The in-coming Lake Erie and Western train struck the truck and jammed it up between the two trains literally tearing it to pieces, and scattering express matter in every direction. Santon narrowly escaped being caught and seriously injured. More room should be provided at this station immediately."

$50,000,000 IN MATCHES.

Value of the Yearly Output of European Factories.

The oldest and it is said the largest match manufactory in the world is in Sweden. Matches were made there long before the old, roughly trimmed splinter of soft wood dipped with sulphur was discarded with the timber boxes, for which they were used. In twenty-five years the export trade of Sweden in lucifers and matches increased 1,000,000,000 boxes a year.

Some of the machines for making matches which we use in these days of 600 revolutions a minute each and turn out about 2,500,000 matches daily. Rather more than five matches per head for the whole population are made daily in the United States. Strange to say, the quality of these Swedish matches, in many cases, is so bad that the state intends to resume the manufacture, and computes that the profits will produce a revenue of $1,400,000.

Altogether there are in Europe about 50,000 factories, and they yearly produce matches valued at $50,000,000.

Editing Slang.

The quantity of heat wasted by slag has suggested projects for utilizing it in raising steam, but nothing practical has been obtained until recently. At a mine in New South Wales the molten slag is run into the bottoms of iron chambers that can withstand internal steam pressure, and jets of water are then turned on the slag. In a short time the chambers are filled with steam that can be utilized in other parts of the works.

Catarrh in the head is a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, to effect a cure.

The greatest day's run of an ocean steamship was 515 miles.

A Cholera Scare.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera, but cholera morbus, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent druggist, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made." For sale by druggists.

PEACHBLOW PORCELAIN.

The Secret a Glaze That Permeates the Ware.

The peachblow porcelain is of Chinese manufacture, and is about 300 years old. It is not, as is sometimes supposed, the designation of a particular shade of color, but a rare and peculiar glaze, which not merely covers the surface of the vessel, but penetrates the entire texture of the article, so that if the same be broken the internal structure is identical with that of the surface. The method by which this result is reached is unknown, and much money has been expended in vain to discover it. The ware is, in a sense, therefore, the result of a happy accident.

Specimens of it are rare in China today, where it is prized as highly as anywhere else. Most of that which there is definite knowledge was taken from China by the Dutch in the days when they monopolized the trade with that country, and from Holland has made its way over Europe. Fine specimens in this country have almost all of them come either from Holland direct, or by way of France. Whither pieces of it were carried by the Dutch, arousing unusual interest among the French potters.

Various Barrels.

A barrel of wine, beer or cider contains 31½ gallons, the Cincinnati lump whisky barrel 40 gallons, the Kentucky whisky barrel from 40 to 45 gallons. In several states of the East a barrel, as a measure of articles other than liquids, is a legal fixed quantity. In a half dozen of the Eastern states a barrel of grain is 5 bushels; of rice, 220 pounds; of flour, 196 pounds, and of lime 320 pounds.

Beauty . . .

And . . .

Mme. M. Yale's

La Freckla

Mme. M. Yale, the celebrated beauty and complexion specialist, said in one of her famous lectures on "Beauty and the Complexion," "Young ladies, remember a pretty face will win for you many friends, but a pure, healthy complexion will win for you a husband. Middle-aged ladies, remember with the decline of youth and beauty your husband's love will decline. Old ladies, remember a pure complexion is the crowning glory of old age, and secure a husband to care for and protect you during your declining years." Thousands of ladies have followed up many lectures.

FRECKLES.

LA FRECKLA is the name of Madame Yale's famous freckle cure, and its success in removing freckles after a few days is sufficient in most cases to effect a cure, and in all cases to show that it is being benefited. There are no Freckles as spoken of in La Freckla. It is a home remedy for every instance. For Tan and Sunburn it is invaluable, and, removing it instantly from the first application, the same effect comes over the face and hands. Sold by druggists at $1.00 per bottle, or sent to any address upon receipt of 1 cents postage. Call at parlors and get free sample. Mme. Yale's Freckla is put up in elegant style, and comes in a handsome box. Price $1.00 per bottle.

Send for Free Book of Mme. Yale's Receipts for removing Wrinkles, Developing the Bust, turning gray hair back to its original color, and all matters pertaining to Beauty. Mme. Yale is the only lady in the United States who has made an old face young again and all women beautiful.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weigman, Misses Ella Rahe, Sophia and Rica Weigman, Mrs. Fred Daseler, Messrs. Ed. Rahe, Charlie Ellerman and Henry Weigman.

Messrs. Gus Goeke, Clem App, Frank Buck, John Cohrman, Will Napp and Glen Webber composed a bus party to Decatur yesterday. They left the city at 7 o'clock and on their arrival in Decatur were the guests of the Misses Holthouse. The ride home was delayed by two break-downs, but this only added to the merriment of the party.

A gay party of young people left Saturday evening for Mr. Hitaman's farm, five miles west of the city, and were royally entertained by the young people of that neighborhood. Dancing was indulged in until late in the evening and a bounteous supper was served by the hostess. Those present were: Misses Ratie Weissenberger, Sophia Rogge, T. Rogge, Lillian Kressler, C. Dellby, S. Hitaman, Julia and Emma Koenlein, L. Wiedelman, and Messrs. Will Rogge, F. C. Schwartz, R. H. Kaiser, A. Bender, C. McKeon, E. Shebondy, Henry and Will Weidelman, J. Fey and C. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loppe entertained their friends at their home, 186 East Madison street, yesterday. Frank Heit, Joe Weih, Henry Krull and Joe Mettler.

A very lovely entertainment was given last evening by Miss Rose Nathan at her home, on West Berry street in honor of Mr. Simon Straus and Mr. Ike Straus, of Ligonier. The house was beautifully decorated with plants, every available spot being filled. After three or four hours spent in listening to good music and in pleasant social enjoyment an excellent supper was served. The entertainment was the perfection of elegance, elaborate without being ostentatious and brought together some delightful people. Among the invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Frank, Misses Minnie Rosenthal, Laura Jacobson, Birdie Hirsch, Carrie Heilbroner, Stella Friend, Belle Levy, Clara Stettiner, Clara Reuben, and Messrs. Louis Hirsch, Ben Lehman, Sam Wolf, H. Hirschberg, Herman and Joe Freiberger, Al Friend, Ed Fisher, J. Dreichlinger, of New York; M. Freeman, of Chicago, and L. Stiefel, of Angola.

Mrs. Louisa Flinn has but recently completed a handsome new residence at 101 North Cass street and moved therein, and her sons, C. M., G. A., William and Theodore and their families resolved to make her a presentation and at the same time give her a great surprise. Last evening she was induced to go to the home of Charles M. and while there the boys put in the house an elegant chandelier, a center table, an extension table and set of china dishes, also fifty dollars in money from her son, G. A. Flinn. A number of friends also assembled at the home. The house was darkened and about 8 o'clock Mr. Charles Flinn and his wife accompanied the mother to her home. As she stepped into the house the lights were turned up and the astonished lady saw not only the handsome display of presents but the assembled friends of her family. After the first greetings were over, Councilman W. H. McClelland, in behalf of the sons, made a neat speech of presentation, his words being especially kind, tender and expressive. The evening was delightfully passed, and all will long remember the pleasant surprise. Those present were: Councilman and Mrs. W. H. McClelland, wife and daughter, Mr. William Edmonds, Mrs. Charles Homick, Mr. Joseph F. Irwin and wife, Mrs. F. L. Racine and daughter, Mr. Hayes, E. Taylor and wife, Miss Lewis, Mr. Walter Smith, wife and daughter, Mr. Frank Kuntz, wife and son, Mr. Chas. Hamrick, wife, son and daughter.

John Haas, of Payne, Ohio, is a guest in the city.

MEXICAN OPALS.

Where They Are Found and How They Are Finished.

The opals are found embedded in a tough, red porphyry-like rock, and this opal rock runs in veins, which have thus far been found in only two Mexican states, Queretaro and Guerrero, the former on the Atlantic slope, the latter hundreds of miles away, bordering on the Pacific. The German capitalists, who have received a considerable sum and bought the opal mines, evidently think the deposits are limited and that they can control the product of the country. The old method of mining opals was a novel one.

Mexican owners of the mines or veins would give to any one the privilege of going into the mine and digging for himself at so much per lay or week. This custom prevailed until quite recently, and Americans, hiring a squad of peons and taking tools, would go out and do a day's mining, paying $5 for the privilege. There was enough of speculation and uncertainty about such expeditions to make them entertaining.

The opal which could be got forseventy-five cents now brings from $5 to $10, according to the anxiety of the purchaser.

Not until it has been out of the mine several months can any estimate of a stone's value be formed. Probably three-fourths of Mexican opals crack during the period of seasoning, and then they are worth little or nothing. The native lapidaries and experts have a way of concealing defects and enhancing the luster by boiling the stones in oil, and many opals are sold fresh from this treatment only to disappoint the buyers a few months later. Americans do this so well that they can even deceive those who are experts in gems.

A New York Dog Official.

The New York gas works board of directors recently appointed a dog as assistant superintendent of its works and a truly efficient officer he is. His name is Beauty and he made his appearance at the works some months ago, refusing to go away on any conditions. He has a curious habit, besides catching all the rats and mice about the building, of compelling a stranger to give up his portable property before departing.

IN SUPREME COMMAND.

Admiral Goldsborough's Overwhelming Egotism.

There is a good story and a most characteristic one told of the late Admiral Goldsborough. It is not in any way an orthodox utterance, but to be perfectly truthful the admiral made no pretentions to being orthodox in matters either sacred or profane, as the incident will bear witness. It was during a trip to the Mediterranean when the admiral was in command of the fleet that the chaplain, a zealous young man, preferred request to hold services on board the flagship on Sunday mornings. The first Sunday after this permission had been given, the young chaplain's trepidation gave place to supreme satisfaction when he noted that with the exception of the admiral the officers and men of the fleet were assembled in full force. After waiting for a few moments for the admiral who failed to appear, the chaplain opened the services in regulation manner: "The Lord is in his holy temple, let all the earth keep silence before him." At the voice rang out in the opening words the admiral walked on the deck, and though his face betokened a storm; he took his seat in silence and so remained until the congregation had been dismissed.

Then he rose, and striding over to the chaplain, said: "Young man, I want you to understand in the future that the Lord is not in his holy temple until I, Admiral Goldsborough, am on deck."

ASSORTED AND SIZED.

The German name for sausage is wurst. Hence, when a dog is killed, it is said that he is worsted.

They that marry ancient people, in expectation to soon bury them, hang themselves in hope that some one will come and cut the halter.

A servant girl in need of employment was a little perplexed when she read this advertisement in a daily paper: "Wanted, a young woman to wash iron and milk one or two cows."

The first woman dentist in the world is said to be Miss. Hirschfeldt, who afterwards became dentist to the family of the late Emperor William and graduated from a Philadelphia college.

Women are frequently employed as booking clerks on the Irish railways, and as Dublin tickets are almost always given by female clerks. Only one woman holds this position in England.

A few years ago there were but two or three advanced schools in the country that were open to students of both sexes. There are now said to be 204 of the 365 colleges which are coeducational.

A little fellow lately asked his parents to take him to church with them. They said he must wait until he was older. "Well," was the shrewd suggestion in response, "you'd better take me now, for when I get bigger I may not want to go."

A firm of Canadian photographers advertise that they "are the only undertakers in the city who take photos of deceased people. The eyes are opened and taken as natural as if alive. By calling at our office our portraits can be seen."
